1. Returned herewith is your memorandum dated 5 June 1958 with the concurrence of this Office for the purchase of thirty (30) additional Wire Analyzer units.

2. We have carefully considered this proposal and recognize certain limitations in this equipment as of the present time. We recognize that the equipment is somewhat fragile and cannot be used simply as a piece of field equipment. We further recognize that the instrument is not the total answer to our problems in this field. In spite of the limitations however we believe that it is in the best interest of the Agency to obtain subject equipment. These devices will be utilized primarily for test and evaluation. We hope to accomplish two purposes by obtaining these Analyzers; make thorough tests and evaluations of the equipment and the principles involved and improve technical inspections conducted by this Office.

3. We feel it necessary to obtain thirty (30) units since this number of units will be required to conduct thorough field tests on the equipment. Approximately twenty (20) of these units will be necessary for the Technical Branch since one inspection trip may require the use of this device in [REDACTED] The remaining ten (10) devices will be tested by technical personnel in the [REDACTED] It is because of this requirement that thirty (30) of these devices will be required.
